MORE LIGHT ON THE MURDER CASE IN CAPITAL CITY

Norris, who is Charged With Shooting, Had Refused to Support Wife.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—L. J. Norris, who is being held on the charge of murdering J. B. Bissett Saturday night in the woods one and a half miles east of the city, came to Raleigh from Portsmouth, Va., as pressman in the printing house of the Edwards & Broughton Co. He was employed on the recommendation of a valued workman in the shop who had worked with Norris in Norfolk.

He came about December 15, 1910 and retained the position until July 13 when he was dismissed because he went to the Masonic picnic at Oxford over the protest of the foreman that he just could not be spared and then did not return for four days when he had only asked for two days' absence.

They say at the Edwards & Broughton printing house that he was a very capable pressman and ordinarily attended well to his work. However, there was an unbearable defect, they report, in that he began to refuse support to his wife, whom those connected with the printing house declare they consider a most estimable woman. She came to Raleigh from Portsmouth early in the present year and they boarded several months with every indication that they were a congenial couple. Then came reports of trouble between them, more especially on account of Norris withholding from her the degree of support that she was entitled to. She charged that he seemed inclined to do nothing more than pay her board bill. Differences grew until she left him and returned to Portsmouth last June. Then complaint came to the Edwards & Broughton Co. that he was sending her no part of the wages he was earning in their employ. His employers remonstrated with him and insisted that he give his wife the support to which she was entitled, insisting to him that they regarded her as a most estimable woman. It does not appear, however, that he sent her any money even after these lectures from his employers. It is understood here that Mrs. Norris has brought suit for a divorce.

After losing his position with Edwards & Broughton Co. Norris remained around a livery stable close by the eating house run by Bissett and the two were apparently close friends. Chief of Police Stell says he has had reason to suspect for several weeks that Norris was operating as a "blind tiger" although he had made no arrest up to the time the killing of Bissett occurred Saturday night. He and Bissett had both been paying attention to Mrs. Yerby, "the woman in the case." They were all three in the hack early Saturday night and Norris became angered at being teased by Bissett and the woman because he was "the crowd" in the party of three. He even flourished his revolver and threatened to shoot them. Then when he left the hack and Bissett suggested that if he found a friend to come out to the woods where they had gamboled, Norris is said to have replied "I will be there." The theory on which the police are working is that he took a street car to the end of the Martin street line back of the Soldier's Home and then a short-cut through the Gatling place and was in hiding when Bissett and the woman arrived. He is suspected of having purposely provided the 38 revolver instead of a 32 with which the shot was fired. The 38 is the revolver he claims to have found near where Bissett was killed.

GABY DESLYS TO SAIL FOR THE UNITED STATES

Paris, Aug. 16.—Gaby Deslys, the woman on whose account King Manuel lost his Portugese throne, sailed today for a three months engagement in the United States. She will receive $4,000 weekly, beginning September 9. A detective will accompany her to safeguard the gems given her by Manuel.

GRAND ENCAMPMENT I. O. O. F. TO MEET NEXT IN SHELBY

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—After the election and installation of officers the North Carolina Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. in session here for the past two days adjourned this afternoon. The New officers follow: Grand Patriarch, Alf P. Clingman, Winston-Salem; Grand High Priest, D. Gaston, Fayetteville; Grand Senior Warden, E. B. Stradley, Asheville; Grand Junior Warden, N. C. Chadwick, Kinston; Grand Scribe, R. M. Ramsey, Charlotte; Grand Treasurer, G. T. Wood, Wilmington; Grand Representative, W. C. Allen, Waynesville.

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—The Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. of North Carolina concluded its annual session here this afternoon, adjourning to meet next year in Shelby. Recommendations made by Grand Patriarch W. C. Allen, Waynesville, to the effect that the state be redistricted so as to place each grand officer in a district and require him to visit all encampments in his district to stir interest and quicken work, and another that there be established a state team to confer the encampment work in most approved manner and have it go into every part of the state visiting encampments where needed, were adopted. The reports of officers showed an encampment membership of 1,500 and 122 members added by the thirty five encampments. Reports showed the Grand Encampment in fine working order and material gains in membership for the next year are assured. Yesterday, having been the seventy-second birthday of Grand Secretary B. H. Woodell, the members of the Grand Encampment ascertained this fact and raised a fund for a handsome silver tea service that was presented last night with due ceremony. C. B. Edwards, Raleigh, past grand patriarch, made the presentation address.

During the past year there were two local encampments revived.—Bellehaven and Weaverville.

CHURCH

And Government Officials Fight in Portugal —Troops to Scene.

Lisbon, Aug. 16.—Fighting between the Roman Catholics and the government officials, sent out to appraise church property preparatory to the final separation of Church and State, has broken out in Northern Portugal. Troops have been rushed to the scene.

MANY

Farmers Want to Serve as Jurors in the Beattie Murder Case.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 16.—Chesterfield county farmers evidence a strong desire to serve as jurors in the Beattie mruder trial. It is believed that but few will disqualify themselves by having a fixed occupation. It is believed that the trial jury will be obtained on Monday.

The prosecution summoned fifty-four witnesses today. The defense has not acted in this particular as yet.

Atwood Resumes Flight.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 16.—Harry N. Atwood, who made a record flight yesterday, resumed his St. Louis to Boston flight this morning. He expected to reach Toledo, Ohio, this afternoon.

Atwood landed near Pottsville, 37 miles west of Toledo, at 10:12. The stop was for the purpose of securing gasoline.

Photos by American Press Association.

NEW YORK has at last begun work on the extensions to its subway system, improvements that will cost, according to official estimates, $257,400,000 and will require four years to complete. The total trackage to be constructed will be 200 miles, though much of it will not be underground, as under the plans proposed the trains will cease to burrow like a mole after leaving the thickly settled portions of the metropolis and will journey to the suburbs on elevated structures. The new subways will ultimately reach every one of the five boroughs of the city, and it is hoped that they will relieve the congestion of the present transit lines and solve the problem of future growth. The actual beginning of work on the new subways attracted a crowd of thousands, and the police had difficulty in holding the people back. Chairman Willcox of the public service commission used a silver spade to move the first dirt, which was carefully placed in a glass jar to be preserved in the office of the commission. One of the pictures shows Chairman Willcox with the silver spade, and the other shows the dirt in the glass jar. The crowd carried away much dirt and bits of asphalt as souvenirs.

BLIND TIGER TO THE CITY STREETS FOR SIX MONTHS

John Ingram, an old gray-haired negro, was convicted of retailing in Municipal court this morning in two cases and given a sentence of six months on the city streets. Ingram is a character well-known to the preservers of peace and has been suspicioned of several actions that did not comply rigidly to the laws and ordinances of the city. Although indicted for various offenses a case has never before been made against him and he has escaped the wrath of the law.

Yesterday afternoon, however, he fell into the snare when he sold two large bottles of beer to Lee Hunt, a young man who is acting as detective for the police in several such cases. In return for the beverage he received a marked half dollar and the deal was repeated about 8 o'clock at night, both marked coins being found on his person when the officers made the arrest. Policeman Jones was responsible for the trapping of the blind-tiger with the aid of the specie, and accompanied by Officer Foushee, Ingram's restaurant on Oak street was searched and 11 large bottles of beer taken. The defendant was represented in court by Col. Staples, but the argument of the attorney could not refute the guilt of the prisoner and the street sentence was the consequence. In the second case judgment was suspended over Ingram, and the police now have a "string" to him on the first suspicion of further offenses after the expiration of his term.

Junior Order Initiation.

An important meeting of Greensboro Council, No. 13, Jr. O. U. A. M. will be held on Thursday evening. There will be an initiation, after which will be a social hour with refreshments. A full attendance is desired.

SOL PRITCHETT BROUGHT HERE TO BE TRIED FOR LIFE

Policeman R. Y. Skeenes returned this morning on No. 37 after a trip to Cumberland, Md. His entire attentions were engaged with the chaperonage of a certain elusive negro, Sol. Pritchett, a personage of this vicinity whose presence is much desired, as he is badly wanted by the police for the murder of Nannie Mines, a negress, three weeks ago. The police department of Cumberland cleverly captured him when it was learned that he had come from Greensboro causing the description sent them to be applied and his consequent arrest. Sol did not deny his identity nor that he had shot down the woman in a fit of rage following a quarrel. He reached Greensboro in the best of spirits and indeed seems to be very happy. It would be difficult to imagine one who is more unconcerned as to his fate, which lies in doubt only in the severity of the punishment, either the electric chair or a long prison sentence at Raleigh, certainly a score of years. The police today summoned the witnesses in the case and Pritchett will be tried in Municipal court tomorrow morning. The result as usual will be that he will be bound over to the next term of Superior Court for final trial.

ONE KILLED; 15 INJURED; IN EXPLOSION

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 16.—As a result of an explosion of ammonia, followed by fire at Charter's Grocery Store, this morning, one person was killed outright, one is missing and fifteen are injured.

NATIONAL STRIKE ON RAILROADS IN ENGLAND EXPECTED

If it Occurs Government will Operate Roads Under Military Supervision.

London, Aug. 16.—The railway companies refused the demands of the strikers today. This assures a national strike on all railroads in the kingdom. Five hundred thousand railway men will go out.

Rioting Resumed.

Liverpool, Aug. 16.—The rioting among the strikers was resumed this morning. Thousands of soldiers poured into the city today to keep order. It is believed that the strikers are preparing to use dynamite.

Mob leaders are making incendiary speeches on the street corners and the government is seriously alarmed.

Cabinet Considers Strike.

London, Aug. 16.—Premier Asquith has called an extraordinary session of the cabinet to consider the strike situation. The government has decided to place the railroads under military operation if a nation wide strike occurs.

Pope's Physicians Alarmed.

PENROSE

Says That Congress will Probably Adjourn Late Saturday Evening.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Senator Penrose announced today at the White House that Congress will adjourn Saturday if the legislative day on Saturday can be extended into Sunday.

President Taft returned today from Ocean Grove, and is preparing his veto on the wool bill, which will go to Congress tomorrow or Friday. The Senate agreed without division to a conference report on the campaign publicity bill.

Democratic Senators held a caucus to agree on the cotton bill action and adjournment question. Senators Heyburn, Sutherland, Chairman; Bradley, Paynter and Pomerine were appointed as a subcommittee of Senate committee on privileges and elections to investigate Senator Stephenson's election.

DEMOCRACY OF KENTUCKY IS FOR A DIRECT PRIMARY

State Convention Also Declares for Local Option—Tariff Legislation Denounced.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 16.—Despite the plea of Henry Watterson not to extend the temperance legislation the Democratic State Convention, in session here today, adopted a platform, declaring for local option. The convention denounced the Republican National tariff legislation and Governor Wilson for pardoning the slayers of Governor Goebel. The convention also declared for the direct primary law.

PROVIDENCE PITIED HER.

Cuts Off Life of Woman Just as She is About to Take It Herself.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 16.—The hand of Providence intervened in the case of Mrs. Maggie Keller of Peoria, and prevented her taking her own life when she fell dead at the bank of the river, her body toppling into the water.

Mrs. Keller was arrested a few days ago for sending a little girl to a saloon, and her family called her "a jailbird." This worried her. Writing a note, she planned to drown, but when in the act her heart stopped. Dr. Bradley, who conducted the post-mortem, says it is a clear case of death due to the excitement preparatory to committing suicide. She was 35 years old and blamed her troubles to her husband's family.

LORD

New York, Aug. 16.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, who arrived here today on the Olympic, in an interview stated that there are difficulties between England and Germany, but none that cannot be settled by arbitration. He discountenanced all forms of war talk.

NEGRESS DIES AT AGE OF HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN.

Winston, Aug. 16.—Perhaps the oldest inhabitant of North Carolina, if not the entire country, died in this city yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, when Aunt Mary Summers, colored, passed to the Great Beyond after a pilgrimage of 116 years here, according to her own and her people's account of her age. It is said that Aunt Mary was born in Virginia in 1795. She had been living in this city, at her home in the negro settlement on East Third street, for a number of years.

WILEY

Pure Food Expert Testifies Before House Investigating Committee.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Before the House committee investigating the department of Agriculture Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, pure food chief, testified today in his own behalf. He declared that though Solicitor McCabe is not a chemist he and Dr. Dunlap, the other members of the pure food and drug board, nearly always out voted him in deciding upon pure food prosecution cases. McCabe and Dunlap are the men who conceived the charges against Dr. Wiley for technically violating the law in employing Dr. Rusby.

Young Boys Engaged In Scrap Last Night With Probable Fatal Results.

Because of a quarrel between two angry boys in the Guilford pool room and a furious fight held on Sycamore street near the Elks' home, Frank Hudson, a young white boy 15 years of age, is today lying at St. Leo's Hospital critically ill, with a slight chance for recovery from a long and deep gash in the abdomen, and Will Busick, his antagonist and assailant with the knife, occupies a cell in the city jail without the privilege of giving bond for his release on account of his victim's serious condition. The scrap occurred last night shortly after 10 o'clock and Young Hudson, bleeding profusely, was carried hastily to the hospital by Dr. Jarboe in an automobile and the police had entered promptly on the search for Busick, capturing him at the depot just as he was preparing to take No. 12 for a hasty departure from the city.

Accompanied by several boy companions, the two youths went out of the pool room, where they had started the quarrel, and a short distance away prepared to fight the matter out. For some time they did not come to blows and Hudson was even led away from the scene by a onlooker, only to break away from the friendly grasp at some remark from Busick and retrace his steps to the scene of the encounter, there to meet the long, keen blade of Busick's pocket-knife, opened in this moment of vantage. The affair quickly terminated, principals and bystanders scattering rapidly. Hudson, not knowing how severely he was wounded, and holding the gash together with his right arm dragged himself to Elm street, where he was seen; his clothes saturated with blood from his shoulders to his knees, and taken at once to the hospital. The careful examination made there revealed the true seriousness of the injury it being ascertained that both the right lung and the right lobe of the liver had been punctured by the knife blade.

After the wound was treated the patient passed an easy night in the hospital, and this afternoon was said to be resting very satisfactorily. Hudson is in a very critical condition, however, death at present being far more likely than recovery. Without complications, recovery is the result expected but it was found today that pneumonia was filling in the lungs, but very slowly, and its slow entrance is taken by attending physicians as a favorable sign. The critical stage of the convalescence will last until Saturday, and if Hudson is yet surviving at that time the doctors will consider his recovery as practically assured.

Young Busick repaired straightway for the best exit from the community of the rash deed, but trailing officers saw him at the depot, and Sergeant Barnes, aided by Policemen Jeffreys and McFarland, captured him after a short chase. He was placed behind the bars of the city jail, where he evidently spent a bad night, with the knowledge of the awful deed and the imminent danger of becoming a murderer at any moment. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Busick, were not notified at the late hour, and the mother of the prisoner, learning of the serious predicament was well-nigh prostrated this morning. Mr. Busick talked to his son in the jail, and later engaged Col. John A. Barringer as counsel for his son in the trial, which will be held as soon as Hudson becomes able

"UNCLE JOE" CANNON.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, formerly the biggest of the big Republicans and, according to the estimate of many, the meanest of the mean Republicans, who is a native of Guilford county, North Carolina, and would have developed into a better man and lived a better life if he had continued to reside in this State instead of making his home in Illinois, is silent nowadays. If "Uncle Joe" is saying anything or doing anything in Congress the public never hears of it.

"Uncle Joe" has been retired —permanently retired, it seems, to the ranks of the useless and harmless. Cannon has sustained a mighty fall, and his downward career has been materially accelerated by his fellow Republicans. He is a typical Republican, and one of the strongest, most energetic men the party has ever had in leadership and one of its most unrelenting fighters for the very worst policies for which the Republican party stands. The party has tried to make a scapegoat of "Uncle Joe" since he was cast down from his mighty position of leadership and since, later on, it was found that it would be popular to throw stones at the fallen leader.

The best elements of all parties heartily disapprove of Cannon and all leaders of the Cannon type, but nobody approves of the efforts made in the Republican party to discredit Cannon by men who are far from being his equal in ability and who lack all the characteristics which forced him into the leadership of his party. In other words, the people of the country see through the Republican party's attempt to make Cannon the party scapegoat. The Richmond Times-Dispatch is vigorous in its denunciation of his party's treatment of Cannon, and says:

"It is said that the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon will retire from public life upon the completion of his present term in Congress; if, when the time arrives, he shall think it a desirable thing to do; if an attempt shall not be made to drive him out; if his constituents are willing to give him up. Nobody knows exactly what he will do about it; but the politicians out in the Danville District are already casting lots for his garments. It is known that he feels bitterly his treatment by his party, and now, the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says, "nobody pays any attention to Uncle Joe. The Czar is dethroned. The good old days are gone and he is beginning to feel he ought to go with them."

"We think so too, but before he goes somebody ought to say that he has been most outrageously treated; that his party, whose bidding he always did in scorn of consequences, made him the scapegoat for its sins and drove him into the wilderness. The ablest and most typical Republican of his time, he has been neglected, vilified and spit upon by the party which he served with all the ardor of his vicious nature, and he has stood the ingratitude of his associates like a man. Without the ability, the resourcefulness, the rugged strength of their chief exponent, but with all his meanness, he should have soce acknowledgement from his traducers of his service to his party.

"When he retires, Mr. Cannon should go back to the State of his nativity and there reflect among honest people upon the instability of earthly greatness and the utter lack of honor in the Republican party."

The days of opportunity for coachmen are past. No heiress nowadays could be induced to elope with a person of less consequence than a chauffeur.

The Spartanburg Herald admits that the weather down there is too warm for boosting. That is a fatal admission. No town where the weather interferes with boosting is a desirable town to boost. The best town to boost is a town like Greensboro, where the weather is always cool enough for boosting.

Greensboro needs more industries and the people who are seeking locations for industries need Greensboro. Undoubtedly this is one of the pest points in North Carolina for the location of industries. Greensboro's central location and splendid facilities for shipping make this an ideal point for factories. The city needs pay rolls and every energy of the citizens of Greensboro should be focused on the effort to secure industries.

More business and less politics is always good for the country. Just now few North Carolinians are worrying about politics and it is a favorable time for Greensboro to give attention to business. Greensboro needs more industries and if they are sought in the right way they will be secured. There is no doubt about this city being able to locate factories here if the right steps are taken. There is no better place in the State for a number of lines of manufacturing, some of which are already established here but a number of which would be new lines, than Greensboro. Good business applied to the problem of securing industries will secure them.

Coatesville's Orgy.

It is futile now to discuss what ought to have been done or what might have been done to prevent the crime publicly pereptrated at Coatesville, Pa., on Sunday night. It is futile to analyze the bestial passions the uncurbed play of which culminated in a sickening orgy at the funeral pyre of a wounded negro desperado, dragged on his hospital cot through the streets and thrust by the cowardly mob into the torturing flames in expatiotion of a deed for which the law would have properly and infallibly have punished him. It would be a waste of time and space to seek palliations and excuses for an unspeakable outrage on justice for which no palliations or excuses, in the circumstances of this case, can exist.

The duty of the hour for the decent element of Coatesville's citizens, her authorities and the law officers of Chester county, is a fearless, relentless investigation of the details of this lynching with a view to the discovery, arrest-conviction and speedy punishment of the ringleaders who planned and directed it. The ineffable disgrace that has fallen on the town, and in some measure upon the State, can be partially wiped out only by energetic action. No half-way measures will do. No perfunctory inqquiry will suffice to remove the stain. It is inconceivable that in so large a gathering of people well known to each other the leaders in the barbarous enterprise can have escaped recognition by many of the townsfolk who had no part in the lynching and no sympathy with the lynchers' purposes. The evidence should be easy to secure.

The local authority of Coatesville and Chester county in this grave emergency can no doubt be depended upon to do its full duty, shielding no one, however high-placed in the community, and leaving no stone unturned to back up arrests with proofs necessary for convictions. The eyes of the State and of the Nation are turned upon the law officers of the county. Let the civilized people of Coatesville co-operate with them to the fullest extent in the distasteful but not difficult task that an hour's riot of savage license has made the test of their courage, their manhood and their honor. —Philadelphia Record.

Our good friends, the Canadians, seem to be in for a very hot campaign and already in the land of the maple lear the air is blue with cries of reciprocity or no reciprocity, and from all accounts it will probably become much bluer. That the opposition will gain several seats seems to be pretty generally acknowledged on all sides, but whether Mr. Borden will succeed or not in wresting the reins of government from the hands of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is most doubtful. The Canadian Parliament is composed of 221 members, and of these 132 are Liberals, 88 Conservatives and one Nationalist. That is, Mr. Borden, the leader of the Conservative party, has to overturn a majority of 44 in order to defeat the reciprocity agreement. In other words, in the last Parliament the Liberals had approximately 60 per cent, the Conservatives 40 per cent, and a change of ten per cent means the parties break even. The key to the situation is the Province of Quebec, a Liberal stronghold which returns 65 members to Parliament, viz, 32 Liberals, 11 Cnservatives and 2 Nationalists, and on this province the hopes of the opposition are centered, for here the situation has been rendered both complex and uncertain by the activities of a third party, the Nationalists. The leaders of this party are Messrs. Rourassa and Monk, and at one time they were in agreement to a very great extent with Laurier and Liberalism. Now, however, though the former is indifferent to reciprocity and the latter only moderately opposed to it, yet both are in absolute opposition to Laurier, and, it is believed, will act with the Conservatives. They claim that reciprocity is not the paramount question, but is simply a blind for the eyes of the voters. A most enthusiastic meeting, which some 10,000 persons attended, was recently held at Three Rivers, and there they raised the clean and honest administration issue. The Oliver scandal was dwelt on; it was claimed that Laurier had no manate from the electors for his Candaian navy scheme, which the Nationalists thoroughly dislike, and the menace of Imperialism was brought in. Considering the fact that Mr. Borden is a staunch Imperialist, more so than Sir Wilfrid, this seems strange, but as near as an outsider can come to the heart of the matter it is a case of opposition to Laurier above everything. This Nationalist opposition in the Liberal Gibraltar is by no means a petty matter, but a force that has to be larefully reckoned with.

The Liberal candidates thunder to the voters that the campaign funds to oppose reciprocity are being largely contributed to by the vested interests in this country and that a combination of pro-navy-anti-reciprocity and anti-navy-pro-reciprocity people are trying to prevent the farmer from immediately experiencing the bliss of the much-sought-after millenium. On the other hand, the Conservatives hold forth that reciprocity is anti-national and anti-imperial, that the next step to it is annexation, that the policy of the government has been one of drift and graft and why allow 12 other countries to compete with the farmer and not with the manufacturer for the sake of getting a freer entry into one country. Mr. Borden was received favorably, if not enthusiastically, during his recent tour of the Western provinces, while in Halifax, his own constituency, he is not as strong as he was, it is said. Both the leaders are busy—for example, Sir Wilfrid speaks at 5 different places from September 4 to 9, and Mr. Borden at 12, from August 15 to 28. It is a good stiff contest and contains the all-important element of sportiness that gives politics a sense of vitality and does away with the feeling of futility. From the reports of the various meetings, it seems that the excellent old English institution of heckling is not altogether unknown. Heckling consists in interrupting the speaker with questions and not submitting tamely to all his statements. "I have represented you for five years in Parliament," says Mr. Lanctot, a Liberal candidate. "It was too long; get out!" some Conservative in the crowd yelled. Whatever may be the demerits of heckling, every one must admit it makes a political meeting interesting and lively, puts the speaker on his mettle, holds him down to common sense and the point in qquestion, and prevents irrelevant fights into the reals of grandiloquent flap doodle.

Why the annexation bogy should be considered anything but an utter absurdity is far beyond the comprehension of the American people. None the less, it is comprehensible that those who have Mr. Chamberlain's policy of Imperialism close at heart should wish Mr. Borden good luck in his fight.

COCKROACHES ROUT BATHERS.

Appear by Thousands Off Lynn, Mass., Biting 1,500 People.

Lynn, Mass., Aug. 16.—Swarms of cockroaches which suddenly appeared in the waters at Lynn and Swampcott Beach today made a vicious attack on 1,500 bathers, many of whom were members of the North Shore society set. The bathers started for shore, but found themselves surrounded by the insects, which made swimming a difficult task.

Many of the bathers will carry souvenirs of today's bath for some time to come. Where the bugs came from is a mystery. The Metropolitan Park Commissioners will take immediate action to prevent the bugs going beyond the beach and invading the city.

HARMON AND UNDERWOOD URGED AS CANDIDATES

(By JONATHAN WINFIELD.)

This is the ticket that some Democrats of the House are talking of now, since Representative Underwood's scathing rebuke of William Jennings Bryan recently, cheered to the echo by the House Democracy

There are some Underwood supporters so enthusiastic that they have started an Underwood boom for President, but the Alabamian, now chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, modestly waves aside all references to himself. In the first place it would be embarrassinng for Representative Underwod to oppose Speaker Champ Clark at this time. In the second place, he is now mainly concerned with the duties encumbent upon him as the chief tariff maker of the House.

The Harmon-Underwood propaganda is assuming shape, and there are many Democrats who believe that the ticket would be invincible. Both Harmon and Underwood belong to what may be term ed the conservative wing of the party. They would receive the vote of men who would never support a ticket which included William Jennings Bryan, and perhaps Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. The latter is termed a progressive, but there are some Democrats who think that the New Jersey Governor is too progressive, and that he would fail of the support of the conservative wing of the party.

The Underwood rebuke of William Jennings Bryan is thought to have gone a long way toward eliminating that three times candidate from the field of possibilities for the campaign of 1912. The manner in which the former idol of the Democracy was dethroned in the House during the Underwood speech is regarded as one of the most significent political events of recent years.

The House membership has always been divided as to Bryan. The Nebraska leader has had his staunch supporters, like Representative James of Kentucky, and Representative Kitchin of North Carolina. On the other hand he has had bitter political opponents in the House, notably Representative Frank Clark of Florida, who has insisted all along, of recent years, that it was time for the Democracy to tear itself loose from the influence and domination of the oft-defeated leader.

A good portion of the House membership stood by Bryan when he demanded that the Ways and Means Committee should put raw wool on the free list in its revision of schedule K. The Bryan and anti-Bryan went into the Democratic caucus and the latter went out. Representative Underwood and his faction had their way, and a twenty per cent ad valorem duty was levied on raw wool under the terms of the House bill.

Bryan accepted this defeat gracefully, although he came out in an editorial in his paper declaring that the Democratic party had been delivered unto the enemy, and that it was marching to defeat under the flag of protection. The split in the party at that time was characterized as the initial step taken by the Democrats to eliminate Bryan as a political factor, although his enemies were forced to admit that he still had a strong following in the country, and that his personality at the next national convention might be a dominating one.

Then came Bryan's rebuke of Underwood, which seemed to be the last straw so far as the attitude of the House was concerned. Because the Ways and Means Committee, under the leadership of Representative Underwood, had not first undertaken a revision of the iron and steel schedules, Bryan charged in an authorized interview that Underwood's personal interests in the steel industry in his home town, Birmingham, had prompted the delay in revision. Several weeks ago, during a debate on the free list bill, which put steel wire on the free list, Representative Underwood had told the House that a part of his fortune was invested in the iron industry. At that time the steel trust, at work on a plant in Birmingham, threatened to shut down work unless Underwood backed down in his stand that wire should be put on the free list. Mr. Underwood stood firm and declared that he would not be dictated to by the trust.

The admission that he had money invested in the iron and steel industry prompted Mr. Bryan again to make certain pertinent observations as to how the Democrats of the House ought to go about the work of tariff revision. He practically charged that Underwood was standing in the way of a revision of the iron and steel schedules because such a revision might hit the Alabama leader's pocket.

In a dramatic speech on the House floor, the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee declared that Bryan's charges were "absolutely false," and he challenged any Bryanite of the House to stand up and say that he, Underwood, had not urged the Ways and Means committee to take up the iron and steel schedules. Such a course, explained Mr. Underwood, would have relieved his of personal embarrassment. Instead the committee voted to take up first the woolen schedule, and this was followed by a revision of the cotton schedule.

Underwood's speech resulted in an ovation to the young Alabama leader, and an apparent overthrow of the Nebraskan by the House. The House cheered him for several minutes, and this demonstration of confidence in the integrity of Mr. Underwood seemed to mark plainly the parting of the ways between Bryan and the Democracy, especially that part of the party represented by the 255 Democrats of the House. Even the erstwhile supporters of Bryan on the floor had nothing to say in his behalf that day.

The Underwood Presidential boom was born that day. Later the Democratic politicians began to suggest that it might be better for Underwood to have second place on the ticket, inasmuch as Judson Harmon has been a recognized Presidential possibility for some years prior to the time Mr. Underwood sprang into such flattering prominence.

The ticket sounds good to the Democracy. The question is whether Mr. Underwood would be willing to give up his commanding position in the House for the rather negative honors that generally go with the Vice Presidency. Many Democrats, however, believe that the Harmon-Underwood combination would beat any yet suggested, and if the convention should decide that the success of the party would be assured, Mr. Underwood might accept second place.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

ARBITRATION TREATIES MAY BE AMENDED

Advocates of the Treaties With England and France Conclude That Minor Changes will be Necessary--Foreign Relations Committee Considers the Treaties.

(By VICTOR ELLIOTT.
Special to Telegram.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Advocates of the British and French arbitration treaties in the Senate have reached the conclusion that it probably will be necessary to amend the conventions in order to get favorable action on them. This conclusion is the result of consideration of the documents by the Senate committee on foreign relations, which has taken them up in vigorous fashion.

The Foreign Relations Committee at two prolonged sessions held recently had the treaties under consideration. Secretary of State Knox appeared and was especially anxious to convince the committee that none of the Senate's constitutional rights in regard to treaty making are jeopardized in the proposed conventions.

Especial objection was made by Senators to the provision submitting questions of difference to a joint high commission of inquiry, and fault was also found with the provision in the French treaty authorizing ratification by that government in accordance with the procedure required by the laws of France, and with the condition in the British treaty that matters affecting dependencies of Great Britain shall be submitted to the governments of such dependencies.

It was thought that the latter clause might lead to undesirable complications, while the former might necessitate a change in the method of procedure in this country.

Despite these objections, it can be seen that the power conferred upon the joint commission is the one real obstacle to early action. Several Senators have expressed unalterable opposition to this provision, and more than one suggestion was made that this clause should be eliminated ,or at least materially modified.

Opposition to the treaties on the ground that the Monroe Doctrine would virtually abrogated so far as Great Britain and France are concerned is not taken seriously by the President or by Secretary Knox. The President has explained that the Monroe Doctrine is an American policy recognized by all European powers. The arbitration treaties, said President Taft, do not provide that policies of any party to them shall be submitted to arbitration.

Questions arising under the Monroe Doctrine might be referred to a joint high commission provided for in the treaties, but would not go to an arbitral court. The commission's recommendations under the treaties are not absolutely binding.

So serious were the objections urged that when the committee adjourned without taking any definite action it was with the understanding that some of the members should confer with Secretary Knox and see if the objections could not be overcome. Some of the members of the committee insist that unless these objections can be eliminated they will be unable to come to an agreement on the treaties. A suggestion was made to allow the whole matter to lie over until next December, but the friends of the treaties on the committee were able to forestall any such aciton.

The importance and extent of t criticism has been brought to the President's attention, and some of the members of the committee have conferred with him to see if it is possible to change or modify the clause pertaining to the joint commission. Several Senators will urge the cancellation of this provision. Many members of the committee express themselves as friendly to the general proposition involved in the treaties and go as far as to say that with a few changes it might be possible to get favorable action during the present session of Congress.

Action at this session is in accordance with the wishes of President Taft and Secretary Knox. They especlaliy urge immediate action for the ratification of the treaties. There is a remote possibility that the treaties will be reported at this session.

Many amendments have been proposed by members of the committee, and nearly all of them tend to nullify the clause relating to the joint high commission. The purpose of the proposed amendments is to reserve without qualification to the Senate the right to determine whether or not a dispute shall be submitted for arbitration. It is thought that if the amendments should be adopted the treaty will be stripped of most of its force, except as a general expression of peaceable intentions on the part of the powers signing it.

In reply to the attack upon the treaties, Secretary Knox said that in ratifying any general treaty the Senate would be exercising all its powers regarding treaty making. Heeting the contention Senators urged the right and duty of the Senate under the constitution to pass separately upon all conventions with other countries. They did not believe that the Senate had the right to delegathe this power. Secretary Knox is eqqually as posiitive that there would be neither abrogation nor delegation of any of the powers of the Senate.

Even if the treaties fail to pass this session, President Taft will regard the she situation with equanimity. He has scored a point in getting the documents published, and believes that the pacts will grow in public favor as they are analyzied more.

Another factor that is expected to cause favorable consideration of the treaties is the meeting in September of the International Waterways Commission the creation of which practically blazed the way for the negotiations of the arbitration tereaties. Originally planned to settle long standing issues between the United States and Canada regarding water boundaries, its functions were so extended by Secretary Root as to constitute it a permanent arbitration board, with almost unlimited powers to adjust disputes between the two countries.

NEWS FROM METROPOLIS OF THE WORLD

(By PHILLIP EVERETT.)

London, Aug. 16.—With the Parliamentary battle between the Opposition and the Government at white heat, and with echoes of uneasiness over the Morocco trouble still reverberating through the land King George has seen fit to add another mite to the unpopularity which greeted his advent on the English throne, and which press and politicians have been making heroic efforts to dispel.

His latest breach of diplomacy hits directly at the masses and hits at them in a place where their pride is most tender. It criticises indirectly and through the younger generations, the British home and the much-vaunted discipline that is supposed to maintain therein. His Majesty has seen fit to deplore the manners of the British school boy.

His criticism was made public by proxy, and was entirely inadvertent. It happened at a recent celebration where the Bishop of Worcester was officiating. The Bishop in the course of his speech of felicitation recounted a conversation with the King, during which the relative merits of British and foreign schools was the subject of discussion. The king, said the Bishop, remarked upon the politeness of the foreign and American school boy and the boorishness of the English product, saying:

"My good Bishop, why do you not go about reforming public school manners?

"Foreigners, both European and American, know when to bow, to shake hands, to converse, to stand up or sit down in the presence of their superiors; while the Englishman and English youth does not. The average English boy is better acquainted with the stable than the drawing room."

It is probable that the Bishop did not reckon the effect of this speech. But the effect was immediate and startling. The press had scarcely made the Bishop's reputed conversation with the King public when from all sides and all conditions of society there arose a storm of protest that had its expression in thousands of letters. And so heated was the feeling expressed that members of the King's household are said to have implored him to deny or explain the words put in his mouth by the Bishop.

King George, however, has taken no action in the matter, leaving the British public to think what it likes and fan or extinguish the flame of wrath that leaped forth throughout the land.

The ill-feeling that existed among a certain portion of the ladies of the English court since Queen Mary started her sensational house cleaning, but which conveniently disappeared for the Coronation season, has again cropped out. Queen Mary, unlike her predecessor, Queen Alexandra, is a great stickler for the formalities of court life and even follows this bent into the private lives of her court ladies. In fact, she has been accused of a curiosity regarding the affairs of England's fair peeresses, that falls nothing short of prying.

With this state of affairs prevailing, many of the ladies who had enjoyed the favor of the late King Edward's regime, found themselves the object of royal inuendo and imperial hints upon the management of their homes that, to them, seemed impertinent.

Prominent among these was Lady Arthur Paget, a famous though eccentric beauty of the late King's court. Lady Paget, however, is not one to stand the royal regulation without attempting to retaliate and her retaliaion has caused her sister peeresses to gasp. She invited her man milliner to attend a garden party at which were present some of the best people of England, people who were high in the good graces of the present Queen. This actioon on the part of Lady Paget created more than a mild sensation in society circles, more especially since the perpetrator of the affair has stoutly championed her cause and shows no likelihood of retreating from her position.

Though both court and society are resting after the arduous rounds of entertainments attendant upon the Coronation, the Investiture, and the yachting week at Cowes, and though a great part of London's elite have sought the cool resorts among the mountain fastnesses of Switzerland, there still remains a sufficient quota of the gilded youth of England's "400" to admire a pretty woman. Indeed Piccadilly is showing an interest that not only has surprised the staid English press but has made the fame of Alexandra Balashova a by-word throughout the land.

Mlle. Balashova is the premier danseuse of the Imperial dancing school at Moscow and her entrance into England was heralded by an offer of a thousand pounds to the firm of boot makers who could fit her marvelous instep from stock.

So wide was the notoriety that this publicity venture gained that the Alhambra's box office receipts took a sudden jump and a fair sprinkling of nobles was observed. This gathering of the peers of the realm, especially the younger ones, came to be a regular thing and at last one prominent club mustered enough enthusiastic admirers to purchase a tier of boxes for the remainder of Mlls. Balashova's engagement.

Accompanied by her youngest son, a frisky youngster of sixty-six, Mrs. Rebecca Clarke, who, at the age of 108 claims the distinction of being England's oldest woman, attended, this week, a garden party given in her honor.

Mrs. Clarke looks half her age, can read without glasses, is blessed with vigor, health and perfect hearing. In fact, in such a remarkable state of preservation is she that some of the most eminent medical men of the Empire have become interested and are busily engaged in examining and comparing notes upon this interesting old personage.

FOOT FAST, HIT BY TRAIN.

Bystanders Witness Woman's Narrow Escape From Death.

Danville, Pa., Aug 16.—Miss Martha Cooper, of Berwick, who is visiting relatives here, had a narrow escape from a terrible death this morning when, being struck by a fast freaght, she was pushed and rolled along the track for some distance.

Miss Cooper was crossing the Reading Railway near the Bloom street crossing when her shoe caught fast between one of the rails and the guard. The train was coming along at a good rate, and it looked to bystanders as though she must surely be killed.

Just as the engine was upon her, however, she succeeded in jerking her foot from the shoe, but not in time to prevent being struck. She was knocked a few feet and fell, again directly in the path of the engine. She was carried and pushed along by the pilot for 20 feet and flung aside.

She was carried into a near-by residence where it was found that she had sustained a broken collar bone, a gash over the right eye and was painfully cut and bruised all over the body. At last accounts her condition was favorable.

CUT OUT CANCER WHILE WOMAN IS IN A TRANCE.

Operation for Stomach Growth Made Without Aid of Anaesthetics.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 16.—While in a trance and without the aid of anesthetics, Mrs. Mary Kalinsky, of this city was operated upon for cancer of the stomach, at the Riverside Hispital, a few days ago, and is now on her way to recovery.

Twenty days ago the woman was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. Dr. A. L. Hauslohner conceived the idea of an opreation while she was in the trance, and it was proved successful. He made known his results today.

Mrs. Kalinsky is still unconscious, but her condition shows improvement. It is expected she will awaken from her cataleptic state in a short time.

The Glidden trophy tour, which starts in New York on October 14 for Jacksonville, will in all probability come through Greensboro. The following from yesterday's Salisbury Post will be of interest:

The Eighth National Reliability Tour of the American Automobile Association for the Glidden Trophy for touring cars and runabouts will be a grade IV contest, as prescribed by the 1911 contest rules, with penalties for time only.

The tour will be run over he National Highway and will start at New York City on Saturday, October 14, 1911, and finish at Jacksonville, on Wednesday, October 25. The daily mileage will be approximately as follows: First day, New York to Philadelphia, 90 miles; second day, to Gettysburg, 116 miles; third day, to Staunton, 184; fourth day, to Martinsville, 148 miles; fifth day, which will be Wednesday, October 18, to Salisbury, 145 miles; sivth day, to Greenville, 156; seventh day to Atlanta, 138; where Saturday and Sunday will be spent by the party. The next three days will be consumed in making the trip to Jacksonville which is 392 miles from Atlanta.

The route of the National Highway embraces ten States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, and presents as varied conditions of scenery as any that can be chosen. In addition, it affords a veritable lesson in early American history. It passes the Battlefields of Gettysburg and Antietam and also the Revolutionary Battlefield of Guilford Court House, and follows the Shanandoah Valley, which is replete with historic wartime sites and monuments. Emerging from this beautiful valley the route passes directly across the famous Natural Bridge of Virginia and South of Roanoke there is mountain scenery a plenty, while here one gets in intimate touch with the hardy Virginia mountaineer. The famous tobacco region of northern North Carolina is traversed and fine macadam roads lead through this section south through the cornfields of South Carolina and into the cotton-fields of southern South Carolina. Cotton milsl are to be found in most of the town along the line and a prosperity undreamed of a few years ago is everywhere evident.

It will be noticed that the tour is to take in the Battlefield of Guilford Court House. To do this the cars will have to deviate at Winston from the National Highway and pass Greensboro. Another noticeable feature is that Salisbury has been considered as a night control, and if action on the part of the citizens will count the party will spend the night here.

DEATH OF DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. A. M. SCALES.

Jennie Hamilton, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Scales, died yesterday evening after a short illness. The funeral services over the body of the little one will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the parents, 310 East Washington street. Rev. Melton Clark, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which the family are members, will conduct the services. The interment will follow in the Scales plot in Green Hill cemetery.

LIES FLAT UNDER LONG TRAIN.

Then Brakeman Hustles and Catches on Caboose.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 16.—Falling between two cars of his train at Nicholson this morning, Herbert Dewitt, a brakeman, owes his life to his presence of mind. Dewitt lay quqietly where he had fallen until the 18 cars comprising the train and the locomotive had passed over him. Then he sprang up and raced after the last car until he caught on. He suffered only a few slight bruises.

WYATT'S ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE SUCCESSFUL.

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—Job P. Wyatt, who cut his throat with a razor in a fit of melancholia due to illness last Friday morning, died at his home in this city late yesterday in spite of the most heroic efforts to save him. He rallied one while, but took a turn for the worse that resulted in his death. He was 56 years old and had been conducting a successfl mercantile business for the past thirty six years, the present firm being Job P. Wyatt & Sons Co. Te was a member of the Raleigh board of audit and finance and was a member of the board of deacons of the First Baptist church. He is survived by Mrs. Wyatt and four children, Messrs. William L., Robert J., and Marion F. Wyatt, of Raleigh and Mrs. C. P. Norris, of Durham.

The funeral was held this morning from the First Baptist church.

THE HOTTEST SUMMER IN PAST FORTY YEARS.

New York, Aug. 16.—Charts just prepared by the United States Weather Bureau show that this has been the hottest summer on record in the United States and that the great heat waves reported in Paris and Rome are pretty close to the highest records in Europe. While in spots, higher temperatures have been recorded both here and abroad, the best obtainable world's records show that there have never before since the first days of weather investigation been such large areas and protracted periods noted.

Moreover, the new charts show that the heat waves this year have been playing unheard of pranks, and while it has not been unusually hot in most southern districts, the heat waves have gone further north than ever before, extreme conditions being reported from as far north as Alaska and New Foundland.

So far as the United Staets is concerned, the available records, covering a period of 40 years, show that the year 1901 only approached the season just passed.

One interesting point is that during the end of June, and in the early part of July, the hottest part of the warm wave, Florida had only 90 degrees above, while Maine had 104 degrees above; Western Kansas had 105 and Eastern Kansas 110 and Wisconsin 100 degrees, or above. An explanation was sought at the local weather bureau today:

"There is absolutely no real scientific reason that can be advanced," said Forecaster Star. "Astronomers might make guesses, but no reason can be advanced that cannot be punctured."

FOR INSURANCE REFORM.

Cmmissioners to Investigate Accident and Industrial Business.

Detroit, Aug. 16.—Insurance Commissioners, representing the States of Michigan, Illinois, Massachusetts, New York and Virginia, met here today to report on the condition of insurance companies which do an industrial and accident business.

Various companies which are engaged in this class of work have come under the scrutiny of the commissioners and searching criticism of some of the methods employed in settlement of claims on accident policies was made in the reports submitted.

The investigation of the industrial and accident insurance now covers some 15 companies, and reports are being prepared on each company.

The committee of State representatives has not yet completed its final report, but alleged serious evils in the settlement of various policies are said to have been discovered.

These, in the opinion of the Commissioners, are the more aggravated because the sufferers are usually working men who, it is stated, through ignorance of their rights and hampered by policy contracts of wordy clauses have apparently in a number of cases been at the mercy of calloused claim adjusters. The investigation is intended not only to bring out and inform the public as to the facts and compel restitution where wrong has been done, but by finding the causes of present conditions to suggest proper remedies.

In a report already formulated by the insuranee department of the State of New York, which was made public today, particular attention is directed to the "large selfish interest, which, through profit-sharing contracts its agents have saved sums that may be saved on settlements."

A preliminary report of the investigation will be made at the convention of insurance commissioners, which is to be held at Milwaukee August 22.

HOSPITAL SHUNS DYING MAN.

Atlantic City, Aug. 16.—Within 15 minutes after he had been refused admittance at the City Hospital today, S. B. Jackson, of Arcadia, Ga., died in a chair outside the saloon of G. Patroni, Arctic avenue and Surf Place.

Jackson, desperately ill, staggered into the saloon early in the afternoon and appealed for a place to rest. Patroni saw that the man was in a dying condition, and after he had seated him on a chair out in the air he called up the City Hospital and asked that an ambulance be sent immediately.

When the ambulance arrived the surgeon in charge, after a hasty examination of Jackson, resumed his seat in the vehicle and ordered the driver to return. Patroni expostulated saying that he was a taxpayer and that he should not be compelled to have the man die on his premises.

The ambulance surgeon, however, refused to take the patient, saying that he was suffering from tuberculosis and that there were no facilities at the hospital for caring for such parents.

CARTER APPEALS TO HOUSE.

Alleges Mistreatment in Savannah Harbor Scandal Case.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Complaining bitterly of his treatment in connection with the Savannah harbor scandal, former army Captain Oberlin M. Carter appeared before the House committee on expenditures in the Department of Justice today and asked that a full investigation of the case be made.

He denied any part in the alleged Gaynor and Greene frauds, and said his hope was to give the public the truth. Richard H. Weyman of Chicago, the special master in the case, he said, told him recently that the conduct of the case was a "terrible travesty on justice." Weyman probably will be summoned as a witness.

Captain Carter served a prison term and was required to forfeit several hundred thousand dollars to the government for his connection with the harbor scandal. He denounced the activities of Marion Erwin, special counsel for the government, and E. I. Johnson, an engineer, employed as an expert witness. He said these men had kept themselves on the government payroll for 12 years by "cooking up" testimony and intentionally causing delays.

He declared that all of his private papers and property, seized by the government agents, had been kept; that he had been unable to recover even a lock of his dead wife's hair and a piece of the flag that flew over Fort Sumter.

SIMMONS AGAINST THE COTTON BILL

Washington, Aug. 16.—In the debate on the cotton bill this afternoon Senator Simmons, after describing the 300 cotton mills and the vast industry in North Carolina, made a strong plea against the bill in its present form. He declared it reduced the duties to a revenue point and that it ought not to be passed without adequate hearings.

Death At White Oak.

J. A. Underwood died this morning at his home, 66 17th street, White Oak, following several weeks of suffering with Bright's disease. It will be remembered that Underwood was deranged in his mind and was taken by the local authorities some days ago to the depot preparatory to placing him in the asylum at Morganton. Deputy Sheriff Weatherly, however, discovered the condition of the man and he was taken back to his home, where the end came after gradual sinking. The deceased is survived by his wife and family of several children. Though not definitely decided it is thought that the funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home and the burial will take place in the Proximity graveyard.

STOKES FARMERS VOTE TO POOL THEIR TOBACCO

Winston, Aug. 16.—An absolute pool of the tobacco crop grown this year has been ordered by the Farmers' Union in Stokes county.

The meeting at which this important step was taken was held yesterday afternoon at Walnut Cove. The action was taken behind closed doors, but it is understood that after much discussion as to details, the pooling question went through unanimously.

Not only has the pool been ordered, but it is learned that the Union already has 90 per cent of the tobacco now being grown in Stokes county pledged. This means that 90 per cent of the farmers of the county will hold their tobacco until such a price as the Union shall set on the weed shall be secured from the buyers.

The Union is now erecting a big dry prizery in Walnut Cove, where the tobacco will be stored. At the meeting yesterday it was ordered that this dry prizery be pushed to completion just as soon as possible, so that it would be ready to handle the first curings of the weed.

The Farmers' Union in Stokes county is much stronger numerically than in Forsyth. It is said that 2,800 farmers of Stokes belong to the organization.

It has been known for a long time that the sentiment in Stokes was strong for a pool, and it is thought by some that one reason for the action yesterday afternoon, when a special meeting had been called out of time, was to influence the members of the Union in this county, who will hold their regular meeting here next Saturday, when, no doubt, some action will be taken on the question of a pool in Forsyth.

The action at Walnut Cove also means that Stokes county will send a big delegation to the interstate meeting of tobacco growers at Greensboro August 25 and 26, and that this delegation will go there to fight for a general pool.

It is said that the tobacco crop in Stokes is much better than it was thought it would be earlier in the summer.

EUREKA LUMBER MILLS BURNED AT WASHINGTON, N. C.

Washington, N. C., Aug. 16.—This city was again visited by a costly and destructive fire, when the large lumber manufacturing plant of the Eureka Lumber Company was almost totally destroyed yesterday. The fire broke out in the boiler room about 3:30 o'clock, and before the alarm was given had gained rapid headway. The local fire department was on the scene in a few minutes and rendered valuable service, but the fire was too far advanced to be extinguished, and the boiler room, engine room and main building were totally destroyed. The large dry kilns and lumber shed were saved after a hard fight.

The loss is about $35,000, with $14,700 insurance. It is understood that the company will rebuild the plant at once.

FARMERS TO GO BEFORE THE CITY COMMISSIONERS

Meeting of Union will be Held Saturday and They will Protest Against a Section of the Meat Inspection Ordinance—The Official Call.

The Farmers Union of Guilford County will meet Saturday at 10 o'clock for the purpose of discussing various matters of business, including the meat ordinance of the city. All citizens of the city are invited to meet with the farmers and go over the matter. In the afternoon of the day the farmers will appear before the city commissioners and request that the ordinance be amended so as to allow them to kill beeves and swine and bring them to the city for inspection afterwards.

President Charles T. Weatherly, of the Union has issued the following call for the meeting:

There will be a meeting of the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of Guilford County at the court house in Greensboro at ten o'clock a. m. on Saturday, August 19th, to transact important business.

All delegates who were elected to represent the Union at last county meeting are expected to be present, and every member of the Union whether a delegate or not is invited to attend.

At eleven o'clock on the same day citizens of the City of Greensboro and of the County, who are interested in having some change made in the present law with regard to meat inspection are invited to co-operate and be present.

The Commissioners of Greensboro have indicated that they will give us a hearing on that day on our application to have the ordinances changed.

MR. BRANNON APPEALS FROM COURTS RULING.

This morning before Justices of the Peace Sims and Rogers, at Proximity, the trial of T. A. Brannon, on the charge of disorderly conduct at the ball park on Saturday, occurred. After hearing the evivdence the court held that Mr. Brannon was guilty and imposed a fine of $5 and costs. Notice of appeal was at once served. Clifford Frazier represented the defendant, while Chas. A. Hines appeared to prosecute the case.

The evidence introduced by the prosecution was to the effect that Mr. Brannon by hooting at Umpire Nugent after Saturday's game had caused the onlookers to become infuriated and an attack on Mr. Nugent's person was narrowly avoided. Mr. Brannon claimed that he was not acting in a disorderly manner and said nothing disrespectful to the umpire and that he was not as boisterous as were others near him.

Mr. Brannon is well-known and is regarded as a peaceful citizen, this being the first time he has been accused of disrespectful conduct towards other persons.

AMENDMENT TO THE PRODUCE ORDINANCE.

The Board of Commissioners yesterday afternoon heard a delegation from the Merchants' Association regarding the ordinance prohibiting farmers from selling produce on Elm street. The amendment, which will not be effective within 20 days, provides that stops not exceeding five minutes may be made on the street. The merchants also protested against other ordinances, but these were not changed.

OAK RIDGE MAY INSTALL SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

The trustees of Guilford College are now having a septic tank installed at the output of their sewerage system, near Horsepen creek and the city and county authorities are preparing to request the authorities of Oak Ridge Institute to install a sewerage system and septic tank. If this is done then all fear of contamination of the city's water supply will be a thing of the past.

There has been much discussion in the past over the possible contamination of the water in Horsepen creek in case of a fever epidemic at Guilford College, but luckily one has never occurred. With the sewerage plant at Oak Ridge installed then the headquarters of both Reedy Fork and Horsepen will be amply protected against possible infection from the two schools.

WOMEN BEST WORKERS.

Telephone Chief Prefers Them, Despite Matrimony Handicap.

Boston, Aug. 16.—Jasper N. Keller, president of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, today declared that women workers are preferable to men despite their few handicaps.

"Today we employ women almost exclusively—more than 6,000 of them," he said. "They are just as careful and efficient as men in doing certain classes of work. To be sure we frequently lost our most useful young woman when we most want them. But tven with the marriage drawback, we cannot do without women and are glad to use them in preference to men."

The above was occasioned by the report published broadcast to the effect that a great railway corporation out West has decided to employ no more girls, saying that they marry just when they are the most useful, and so leave their positions for useless novices. He said further:

"The result of tests has been that in the operating rooms of our system male help has been almost wholly eliminated. Today we employ women almost exclusively. We also employ many women in our clerical departments, and as far as I have been able to learn they are just as careful and efficient as men in doing certain classes of work."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

PATRIOTS DROPPED SECOND OF SERIES TO THE SPINNERS

Stouch's Spinners got a home run, a triple, a double and two singles off Morrisey's delivery in the fifth inning yesterday, which netted them five runs and the game. The final score was 6 to 4. The Patriots got 14 hits to Greenville's 11, but they were well scattered. Bussey did the twirling for the visitors, and while he won his game, he did not pitch any better ball than the "Deacon."

The Patriots started off by getting two runs in the first frame on Doyle's two-bagger and Fuller and Doak's singles. The score went along at 2 to 0 until the fifth. In this inning Kite the first man up knocked the ball to Rickard, who caught it but dropped it as he started to throw. Nugent called Kite safe on what he termed Rickard's muff. This hurt Morrisey's feelings and the Deacon let the game go. Stouch and Griffin singled, scoring Kite. Sharp sacrificed the two men ahead of him to second and third. Then Hoey drove the sphere over the fence in front of the Bull's surprised countenance, cleaning the bases. Smith followed with a triple and scored on Goodman's single.

This practically settled the game. Rickard doubled in the fifth, was advanced by Doyle's fly-out and scored on a steal. In the seventh Morrisey led off with single—Eldridge ran for him, went to third on Rickard's hit, and scored when Fuller went out pitcher to first. The visitors made one run in the sixth on Stouch's double and Sharp's single.

The feature of the game was Carroll's fast work, in getting six assists and four put outs. Fuller got four hits in five times up and Rickard three safeties in the same number of times at bat. For the visitors Hoey, Smith, Goodman and Stouch starred with the stick and Sharp played star left field.

The Moderation Monthly Magazine.
(By R. L. DAVIS.)

There has just fallen into my hands a letter advertising the Moderation Monthly Magazine, which is to begin its publication at Cincinnati, Ohio, September 1, 1911, by the Moderation Monthly Magazine Company, a corporation having $50,000 assets. This information, as well as what follows, is secured from their own literature, which has been sent out this month, and some of which is now in the hands of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League. The editor's name is not given but J. Harry Fatthauser is president, L. A. Myers, treasurer, and A. O. Ostendarp, secretary. Their place of business is head of Hammond street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The purpose of this paper is given in the following advertisement, but a study of their literature and letters show that it is an ingenious scheme to secure names of men throughout the State to whom they may send liquor advertisements with the hope of securing orders:

A Sporting Paper—A good healthy paper on all popular sports, such as baseball, racing, boxing, airships, etc.

A Farmers' Paper—Good articles of interest to the farmer about stock and crops. Some new ideas and useful suggestions.

Personal Liberty—This paper tells about a man's right of personal liberty—to smoke a cigar when he wishes, or take a drink if he needs it.

Moderation—All things should be done in moderation, nothing overdone or underdone—moderation in working, playing or drinknig.

Things Men Want—The advertising in a paper is often the most interesting part. This paper will advertise things that men want—such as cigars, whiskey, etc. Each subscriber can buy these at less than regular prices, and this paper will guarantee the responsibility of every advertiser, or see that any loss is made good.

Subscription Costs Nothing—Because you make a saving on everything you buy from our advertisers, the magazine does noet really cost you anything—you save much more than the subscription price.

We quote from their "instructions to Agents:"

"The Moderation Monthly Magazine is for men only—no subscriptions taken from boys, girls or women. The subscription rate is 25 cents a year, a trial subscription of four months for 10 cents is accepted. You are paid 11 cents for every four months trial subscription as follows: You collect 10 cents and keep the money. We pay one cent when subscription is sent to us. The extra one cent will not be paid for less than ten subscribers, but you can keep the ten cents, even if you only secure one or two subscriptions."

From their letter sent out to agents, we copy the following:

"We offer the biggest inducements you ever heard of to get a large list of subscribers to our paper right here in your county. We actually pay more for every subscription we get than the subscriber pays us for the paper. We pay 11 cents for every subscriber and the subscriber has to pay only 10 cents for the paper—an agent could give away subscriptions and make one cent on every name. We want some one to collect names of subscribers, we don't care whether they give the subscriptions away or charge for them—we pay an extra one cent fer every name when the subscription blank is properly signed."

In addition to paying the one cent for every name, they have a list of free premiums, among these are found the fountain pen, gold watch, one gallon of whiskey (any brand desired) and $50.00 in cash, which goes to the party who sends in the most names by September 1, 1911.

From a blank subscription card sent out, we read this guarantee:

"It is guaranteed that I can buy whiskey from the advertisers in your magazine at a discount of not less than 15 cents a gallon when I use the coupon printed in the magazine, and you are responsible for the honesty of all your advertisers."

This is the most ingenious scheme that we have seen for securing names to flood our State with liquor advertisements and literature; and then to flood our State with liquor to blind tigers and every body else to break down the good results of Statewide prohibition. We are making our protests to the Postal Department of our government against such a magazine as this being sent through the mails as second class matter, and we believe that citizens and newspapers everywhere ought to cry out against it.

This turn of the liqquqor interests gives us further proof of the absolute necessity of some legislation from Congress that will allow each State to control the liquor traffic by its own police regulations, and there is no doubt of the fact that the citizens, who believe in temperance, prohibition and law enforcement in North Carolina, must concentrate their efforts before the next Congress and co-operate with the Anti-Saloon League of America, the National W. C. T. U., and other national temperance organizations to secure this legislation which is needed above all other things for our State right now. I beg the preachers to speak out on this proposition. I beg the press of this State, both secular and religious, which has been such a power for prohibition in North Carolina and deserves so much credit for our victories so far, to emphasize the need of this legislation and to continue with us in this fight until success shall perch upon our banners.

In conclusion, let me say if the temperance forces of this State become inactive, the activity of the liquor corporations will very soon carry our State back to the old license policy. Our only safety lies in eternal vigilance.

"After I am gone the world that is now so careless will learn what I have accomplished."

"I wouldn't let that worry me, they can't arrest you then, you know.—Houston Post.

Clothes may make the woman, but not when the woman makes the clothes.

PRETTIER THAN THE MULES

Pretty as are the ribbon mules that were first seen a little more than a year ago, the new ribbon bedroom slippers are even more attractive. They are made in much the same way as the mules, save that the ribbon, instead of simply forming a hood for the front of the foot, must form a slipper for the heel as well as for the toes.

First of all a pair of slipper soles must be purchased of correct size for the fortunate being who is to receive the slippers as a gift. These slipper soles may be found in two different styles. One of these is the wool sole, suitable for winter, and which, if it is not to be uncomfortably warm, must be covered over with a piece of ribbon or satin. The other sole is covered with felt wadded satin, but is not so soft as the first, and is essential for summer. Ribbon about four inches in width is then bought and sewed with overhand stitch all round the outer edge of the sole, just a small amount of fulness being left about the front. The seam, of course, comes in the back. About an inch from the top edge the ribbon is then gathered in fairly tight to an elastic, the inch of material thus forming a ruche about the instep. With a pretty rosette of flowers or ribbon the slipper is then complete.

That it may wear well it is advisable to provide only a good quality of ribbon, and a heavy quality at that, and if the slipper is to be really durable the ribbon should be lined with silk or satin. Needless to state, the sole of the slipper and the ribbon employed must be of the same shade, unless a flowered ribbon is used, in which case the lining of the ribbon and the cover of the sole are of the same delicate shade of pink, blue or mauve, as the case may be. A narrow hat elastic is best to use about the instep, as a thin cord elastic will not hold

Some men know their limitations; others don't even know they have any.

ASTOR CASE REACHES SENATE.

Uniform Divorce Law Favored by Senator Curtis, of Kansas.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—The storm of protest which has been raised over the approaching marriage of Col. John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeline Force has brought about an agitation among members f the Senate and House of Representatives looking to a Federal law regulating marriage and divorce. Foremost among the advocates of such a measure is Senator Curtis of Kansas.

"The matter of establishing uniform divorce laws is one in which I am greatly interested," the Kansas Senator is quoted as saying today. "It is a matter that vitally affects the social interests of the nation and one which must soon be remedied. First among the laws should be one absolutely preventing in any State the marriage of a man whose wife divorced him on charges of specific crime. Along with this should be laws making both marriage and divorce more difficult. A commission might be appointed to ascertain the best way of establishing uniform laws throughout the country."

Representative Shepard of Texas, suggested that if Congress cannot act in this matter an organization might influence the various States to join in a plan for uniform divorce laws.

There has been hidden in a very conspicious place in GREENSBORO a check for $5.00. This check when found and brought to the Telegram Office, will be endorsed and honored at the Bank for $5.00

WHERE IS THE CHECK?

Only one person in the city knows where it is, but by a careful study of the ads appearing on this page, you can find it. In several ads there has been inserted one or more extra letters. These letters when picked out and correctly arranged will form a sentence telling where to find the check.

The Office will not answer any inquiries, neither will they take any answers. You must find the check and bring it in.

If correct answer from out of town is received before the check is found, check will be awarded to party so answering. Just a little hard thinking and the $5.00 is yours.

WATCH FOR THIS SPACE NEXT WEEK.

Get busy and hunt for the hidden $5.00 check. If you do not find it in our place of business, we will give you $50.00 off the purchase price of any instrument you may select from our immense stock of Kimball, Hallett & Davis, Whitney-Conway, Lexington and Hinze Pianos, or Player Pianos.

THE FLEMING HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—The habeas corpus proceedings brought here by Mrs. Percy B. Fleming against her husband for the custody of their two children on account of the separation of the couple July 14 has stirred a sensation here, the hearing of the case before Chief Justice Walter Clark being in progress today. Percy Fleming is a popular young man, formerly teller in the state treasury and Mrs. Fleming, who came to Raleigh as a bride from Washington, D. C., is a beautiful and gifted young woman, a vocalist of rare talent and training. In rebutal of the complaint filed against Fleming by Mrs. Fleming to reclaim her children Fleming charges that she is not a proper person to have the training of the children.

In her complaint and petition for the writ of habeas corpus Mrs. Fleming sets out that they were married in 1906 and that her husband left her without cause on July 14 and secured the children on that date by taking them from the nurse on the streets of Raleigh, sending them to his brother, Dr. A. H. Fleming, at Louisburg. She charges that her husband is adicted to excessive drink and the use of dopes, having been twice treated at Telfair Sanitarium, Greensboro, for the whiskey habit and for doping, without a cure; that he is often intoxicated and excessively jealous and she fears that to a certain degree his mind is affected. That she can account in no other way for his insults, indignities and cruelty to her. That for many months he has behaved to her in such a way as to make it impossible for her to live with him and retain her self-respect; knows of no reason why her children should have been abducted and removed from their mother's care and mother's love. That her husband is utterly unfit to rear and care for her children and that it would not be to their interest for him to have their custody. She sets out that she had rather be dead than separated from her children. She also states in the petition that if entrusted with the care of the children she will take the necessary steps to compel her husband to provide her the necessary support to the extent of his ability.

Col. J. W. Hinsdale and H. E. Norris are appearing as counsel for Mrs. Fleming and appearing for Mr. Fleming are Douglass, Lyon and Douglass of Raleigh, and Spruill & Holding, of Louisburg.

Mrs. Fleming was Miss Nelle Claire Crough, of Washington, D. C., daughter of H. E. Crouch, of Washington, who holds a government position at the National Capital. She is an especially attractive young woman, agifted vocalist who has taken part in many important musical events since she came to Raleigh.

Mr. Fleming came to Raleigh a number of years ago as teller in the state treasury and is now a member of a successful plumbing corporation here. He is a genial, popular young man

Mrs. Whitt's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Whitt was held Sunday afternoon at Bethel church, seven miles from Kernersville. She died Saturday after a long illness. Mrs. Whitt was 49 years of age and is survived by six children.

SMALL CHILD DROWNS IN A PAIL OF WATER

Winston, Aug. 16.—With its head submerged in slop water and its tiny feet sticking out of the large bucket over which, in play, the little child had leaned too far and tumbled to an awful death, Mamie, the 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Fulp, was found dead yesterday evening just before 6 o'clock in the backyard at the home of the parents, 114 Pond street.

Helpless the baby had drowned in water not more than a foot deep, while five of its brothers and sisters, any one of whom could have lifted it from the prison of water, built play houses just around the corner of the house.

Nor did they hear the cry of distress from the direction in which the little hands and feet had prattled but a short time before. For there was no cry—just a sudden and noiseless plunge to the bottom of the bucket, a silent kicking of the chubby little feet, at first violent and then weaker and weaker, until they hung limp and still over the sides, while the head rested on the bottom, where the cries had been stifled. Life had gone out.

It was Verna, the 14-year-old sister of little Mamie that first came to the back yard, calling "Mamie." But the name stopped half uttered and she grabbed the tiny feet. The limp body yet warm in death, followed as she pulled by the ankles.

When the baby would not wake the alarm was given. Dr. Fearrington was called. He pronounced the child dead and said that it had been dead for several minutes.

Mr. England Arranges For Two Sales.

R. L. England has booked two large auction sales, one for real estate in Thomasville and the old hoss sale here for Southern. Mr. England went to Thomasville yesterday and closed a deal with John R. Myers, of S. F. Foster's estate, for a big land sale. He is to improve the street and property, advertise and sell the same at auction on Sept. 6. This is quite a large estate and some of it lies in the heart of the town.

to testify or dies from his injury.

The prisoner in the jail today was sulking, admitting that he was very much depressed over the deed committed so thoughtlessly. He continually sought the latest tidings from the bedside of his victim, and seemed to be thoroughly repentant for his conduct.

Neither Hudson nor Busick have borne good reputations in the city as both are unmanageable and have frequently been involved in trouble, especially Busick, who is suspicioned of various misdeeds.

Hudson is the son of Mrs. Ida Hudson and for some time has been engaged as a chauffeur by J. W. Jones.

NO HAT ON DR. WILEY'S MIND.

Pestered Pure Food Expert Says He Has Enough Without It.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, pure food expert of the government, who is being pestered with charges by colleagues, has been going around Washington lately without a hat.

"What's the idea, Doc?" asked a friend today.

"What's what idea?"

"Trying the sun cure for that bald spot? Why don't you wear your hat?"

"Oh, I've got enough on my mind without that," said the doctor.

75 PER CENT. OF THE BIG ADVERTISERS OF AMERICA PREFER

EVENING NEWSPAPERS

Out of 400 Large Department Stores 302 say they Prefer Evening Papers and Give Reasons Why

(FROM THE LOS ANGELES RECORD)

OUT of 400 letters sent to the large Department Stores of America asking which they considered a better medium for advertising, morning or an evening daily newspaper, 392 replied. Of these replies 302 stated they preferred the evening newspaper for advera tising; 26 stated they gave the evening paper first copy when they used an evening and a morning paper. As the Department Stores are always the largest advertisers in their respective cities and are in a position to see where the results come from, their opinions, formed from experience, are most valuable. They all speak most emphatically of the advantages of the evening paper over the morning paper for advertising. Of these 302 advertisers who prefer the evening paper a large number of them use the evening paper exclusively and find the returns most profitable.

THE following statements made by the different large firms of America show why they prefer the evening paper over the morning paper:

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The evening paper is best, as it is the one that gets into the homes and stays there. Men carry the morning paper downtown on their way to work in most cases.—Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—The evening paper undoubtedly is the best advertising medium, because it most surely gets into the very hands toward which all department store advertising is intended—the women of the house—and because then there is plenty of time to read, plan and digest.—Loveman, Joseph & Loeb.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We spend $325,000 a year and 75 per cent of it is in the evening papers and 25 per cent in Sunday papers. Even with our great morning papers we cannot make them pay, though the experimenting has cost us $100,000.—Siegel, Cooper & Co.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—We prefer the evening paper for advertising because the housekeeper, business man and working man have more time to go through the paper in detail after the day's work is over and have time to plan their next day's shopping. Our experience is that we get quicker and more direct results from the evening paper.—Fowler, Dick & Walker.

BOSTON, MASS.—We consider the evening paper the best medium, because it is taken home and the women get to see it.—Henry Siegel Company.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—We consider the evening newspaper better, because we cater to the working people, and they are employed from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and their only leisure time is in the evening, and they invariably take only evening papers, and have more time to read advertisements.—Cline Bros.

ALBANY, N. Y.—We consider the evening newspaper a better medium for advertising, because women have more time and better opportunity to read the evening papers.—Waldman Bros.

AKRON, OHIO—We consider an evening paper a superior medium. The evening paper goes direct to the homes and is more thoroughly read. It is read by men after business duties are through for the day and they are more liable to remember the advertising. The morning paper is used by office men.—C. H. Leager & Co.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—We consider the evening paper the best advertising medium, as the average woman does not take time to read a paper until her work is done.—Ed Schuster & Co.

DETROIT, MICH.—We prefer the evening paper.—Partridge & Blackwell.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Best results from evening newspapers. The only time I use a morning paper is Sunday for Monday's business. Balance of the week the evening papers do the work to my entire satisfaction.—The Fair.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—We use afternoon papers exclusively during the week. Morning papers on Sunday only.—John C. Lewis Company.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—For advertisements containing items of special prominence likely to produce a rush, the evening newspaper serves as a better advertising medium, first, because people as a rule, have more time to read an evening paper thoroughly and note the contents thereof; second, it gives an opportunity to shoppers to select what items they contemplate purchasing and allows them time to prepare a program for the next day's shopping.—Burgen Dry Goods Company.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We prefer the evening paper week days and the morning paper Sundays only, because the evening paper is brought to the home by the member of the family who goes to business and buys and reads the paper on his way home. The Sunday paper is delivered at the home and read in the home.—Price & Rosenbaum.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We consider the evening paper the better medium for advertising, mainly because the evening paper goes into the home and stays there when there is time for the whole family to read and consider.—Frederick Losser & Co.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—We have always given the evening paper the preference. We spend $40,000 a year for advertising and this all goes into newspapers. We use no other medium of any kind, as we consider ANYTHING OUTSIDE OF THE NEWSPAPER as money wasted.—W. H. Elsinger & Co.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—We consider the evening paper better as a general thing, for it is usually the home paper.—Callendar, McAuslin — Troup Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The evening paper is, in our opinion, most profitable for advertising.—The Wm. H. Block Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y,—We do most of our advertising in the evening paper.—Wm. Henerer Co.

BOSTON, MASS.—We prefer the evening paper by all means, because it goes into the homes directly, while the morning paper has a tendency to work back into the business section and does not reach the homes in such relative number as the evening paper.—Houghton & Dutton.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Where I've been, almost without exception, the evening paper is the best medium.—W. H. Milligan, Advertising Manager Field, Schlick & Co.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The evening paper by all means.—The Bailey Company.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—It is our opinion that the evening paper is better, as the shopper is prepared to sally forth the next morning.—Penny & Gentles.
